Hundreds show up to Portland clown march, in silly day of joyous protest

Read more

NATIVE HISTORY

Thousands of artifacts to be returned to Umatilla Indian Reservation

The Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation signed an agreement in late March to acquire Fred L. Mitchell's collection of beaded bags and other historical items.

Matthew Kish The Oregonian/OregonLive

Hundreds of beaded bags and pouches are among the thousands of historic items that will be returned to the Umatilla Indian Reservation.

On March 31, the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation signed an agreement to acquire Fred L. Mitchell's collection of tribal artwork and artifacts.

Mitchell owned "the finest collection of twentieth-century Columbia River Plateau

Baird's beaked whale washes up on Long Beach Peninsula

The whale was too decomposed for researchers to determine a cause of death.

Matthew Kish

The Oregonian/OregonLive

Researchers who examined a Baird's beaked whale that washed up in Southwest Washington could not find an obvious cause

The whale was found Friday on the Long Beach Peninsula, according to OPB. At least 19 whales have washed up on the West Coast this year, according to the news organization.

Milstein said NOAA was also aware of a roughly 40-foot adult male gray whale that had washed up near the Ocean Shores area of Washington. He said there was no obvious cause of death and the whale appeared malnourished, but not as emaciated as others.

The recent necropsy of a juvenile humpback whale that washed ashore near Yachats